6. Purpose of processing personal information

The practice processes personal information for the following purposes:

- To provide dental and related healthcare services;
- To maintain accurate patient records;
- For billing patients and submitting claims to medical schemes;
- To comply with legal and regulatory requirements;
- For practice administration and management;
- For employment management, payroll and compliance with labour laws;
- For communication with patients, suppliers and other stakeholders.

7. Lawful basis for processing of personal information

Processing means any operation or activity or any set of operations, whether or not by automatic means, concerning personal information, including:-

- a) the collection, receipt, recording, organization, collation, storage, updating or modification, retrieval, alteration, consultation or use;
- b) dissemination by means of transmission, distribution or making available in any other form; or
- c) merging, linking, as well as restriction, degradation, erasure or destruction of information.

Personal information is processed in terms of the following lawful bases under POPIA:

- Consent: Patients provide consent for the processing of their personal and health information.
- Contractual necessity: Information is required to perform healthcare services or employment obligations.
- Legal obligations: Records required under the Health Professions Act, National Health Act and other applicable laws.
- Legitimate interests: For the administration and management of the practice.

8. Sharing of personal information

Personal information may be shared with:

- Medical schemes or insurers for claims processing.
- Referrals and other healthcare professionals (with patient consent).
- Statutory and regulatory bodies (e.g. HPCSA, Department of Health)
- Service providers (e.g. IT, accounting, HR) under confidentiality agreements
- Courts or authorities where legally required.

We will never sell or disclose your information to unauthorised third parties.

9. Information Security Safeguards

The practice implements reasonable technical organisational measures to protect personal information from accidentally being lost, used or accessed in any unauthorised manner, including:

- Secure physical storage of patient files and information;
- Password-protected electronic records;

- Access controls to ensure only authorised staff access information;
- Confidentiality agreements with employees and service providers.

10. Data subject rights

Under POPIA, patients, employees, and other data subjects have the right to:

- Be informed about the collection and use of their personal information;
- Access their personal information;
- Request corrections or deletion of inaccurate, irrelevant or excessive information;
- Object to the processing of personal information in certain circumstances;
- Withdraw consent for processing of information (where consent is the lawful basis);
- Lodge a complaint with the Information Regulator.

Requests must be submitted in writing to the listed contact details in clause 2.

11. Retention and destruction of records

Records are retained according to the following guidelines:

- Patient records
Retained in accordance with the National Health Act. The recommended period is a minimum of 6 years or longer, where required.
- Employee and financial records
Retained as required by tax and labour legislation, with a minimum of 5 years.
- Information no longer required
These documents are securely destroyed by means of shredding paper files and permanent deletion of electronic files.

12. Availability of the manual

This manual is available at the office of the practice during office hours by prior arrangements or on request to the information officer.

13. Updates to the manual

This manual will be updated if and when new legislation or operational requirements arise or when the practice's information processing activities change.
